Description :

PDF-36369 | The industrial food system has created a crisis in the United States that is characterized by abundant food for privileged citizens and “food deserts” for the historically marginalized. In response, food justice activists based in low-income communities of color have developed community-based solutions, arguing that activities like urban agriculture, nutrition education, and food-related soci... More Than Just Food: Food Justice and Community Change (California Studies in Food and Culture)
